INDEX

TO THE

EIGHTY-SEVENTH VOLUME

OF THE

North-American Review.

Abbot, Benjamin, his induction as Principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, 133 — his dignity of character, 135 — his scholarship, ib. — his discipline, 137 — semi-centennial anniversary of his induction, 138 — his old age and death, 140.

About, Edmond, his Maître Pierre, noticed, 544 — his Nos Artistes au Salon de 1857, noticed, 545.

Actiniæ, habits of the, 151.

American Revolution, article on its first stages, 449 — its providential character, 462 — conditions essential to its success, 465 — brought about by the undesigned co-operation of England, 469.

Aquarium, article on the, 143 — numerous works on the, 144 — invention of the, ib. — proper arrangement of the, 148.

Art, human, its foundation in the laws of matter, 533 — the body adapted to it, 534 — the laws of mind that render it possible, 536.

Artesian fountains, their principle illustrated, 69.

Aryans, the, nature and degree of their primitive civilization, 487 — their migrations, 489.

Austria, article on her treatment of Hungarian Protestants, 343 — concordat between the Emperor and the Pope, 351.

Bancroft, George, seventh volume of his History of the United States, noticed, 279 — reviewed, 449 — his faults of style, 453 — his plan in this volume, 455.

Bartol, Cyrus A., his Church and Congregation, noticed, 273.

Basques, article on the, 211 — their country, 212 — their language, 215 — their proverbs, 216 — their dramas, 217 — their sports, 219 — their maritime enterprise, 221 — their Gypsy population, 222 — their superstitions, 224 — their poetry, 226.

Bastard, his Les Parlements de France, reviewed, 94 — quoted, 101.

Bayne, second series of his Essays, noticed, 274.

Béranger, his Œuvres Posthumes, noticed, 265.

Bledget, Lorin, his Climatology, reviewed, 507.

Boscobel Tracts, noticed, 255.

Boston Port Bill, its immediate effects, 470 — its far-reaching political consequences, 471 — its call on the sympathy and aid of the country at large, 472 — the correspondence thus called forth, 473.

Bradford, Samuel Dexter, his Works, noticed, 557.

Buckle, Henry Thomas, his History of Civilization in England, reviewed, 388 — his fundamental principle, 389 — his overestimate of physical causes, 391 — his denial of the hereditary transmission of qualities, 392 — his stress on soil and climate as causes of human development, 395 — his depreciation of moral causes, 398 — his argument for the supremacy of intellectual over moral forces, 400 — his denial of the lasting influence of individuals, 402 — his theory as applied to war, 405 — to slavery, 407 — his exaggeration of the evils of ignorance, 409 — his virtual injustice to Christianity as a moral force, 411 — his sounder views of the relation of government to civilization, 412 — his sketch of the progress of civilization in England and France, 414 — his condemnation of the protective system as applied to literature in France, 422 — the Appletons' edition of the work, noticed, 565.

Bushnell, Horace, his Sermons for the New Life, noticed, 258.

Carlhant, C., his Jules César, noticed, 549.

Charras, Lieutenant-Colonel, his Waterloo, reviewed, 431 — the Emperor's dread of the book, 432 — its fidelity to fact, 434 — quoted as to the condition of Napoleon's troops on the eve of Waterloo, 435 — of the allied army, 437 — his portrait of Wellington, 439.

Chat Moss, how crossed by railway, 53.

Chateaubriand, Villemain's Life of, reviewed, 114 — his anomalous character, 115 — his relations with Napoleon, 116.
Climate, its permanence, 507 — effect on it of the ellipticity of the earth's orbit, 509 — of the obliquity of the sun's rays, 511 — its physical constants, 513.
Climatology, article on, 507.
Commentaries on the New Testament, article on some recent, 235.
Commentators on the New Testament, their faults, 236 — their needed qualifications, 238.
Comte, Auguste, his Republic of the West, noticed, 268.
Coquerel, Ath., Fils, his Jean Calas et sa Famille, noticed, 263.
Cousin, Victor, his Études sur Pascal, reviewed, 106 — his discovery of a lost work of Pascal, 109 — his Fragments et Souvenirs, reviewed, 111.
Cummings, J. W., his Italian Legends and Sketches, noticed, 284.
Curtis, George Ticknor, second volume of his History of the Constitution of the United States, noticed, 279.
Curtis, Joseph, his Memoir, noticed, 567.
Curtius, Ernst, his Greek History, reviewed, 481 — his Ionians before the Ionian Migration, reviewed, ib. — his qualifications as an historian, 484 — his success, 485 — special results of his inquiries, 486 et seq.
Cyclopædia, New American, third volume of, noticed, 563.

Davis, Charles Henry, his Translation of Gauss's Theoria Motus, reviewed, 1 — his own additions to the work, 20.
Davy, Sir Humphrey, his controversy with Stephenson about the safety-lamp, 30.
Deaf mutes, sketch of the history of means for their education, 526.

Emmett, Robert, his Life by Madame d'Haussonville, reviewed, 103.
Epée, Abbé de l', his labors for the instruction of the deaf mute, 526.
Exeter, see Phillips.

Ferry, Gabriel, his Les Squatters and La Clairière du Bois des Hogues, noticed, 266.
Fields, James T., his Few Verses for a Few Friends, noticed, 276.
France, parliamentary history of, discussed, 95.
Francis, John W., his Old New York, noticed, 281.

Gallaudet, his Life, reviewed, 517 — his early days and education, ib. — his interest in the deaf and dumb first developed, 519 — his European tour, 520 — his superintendency of the Hartford asylum, 523 — his resignation, 524 — his chaplaincy to the Hartford Retreat for the insane, 525 — his death, ib. — his success in the sign-language, 528 — his monument, 531.
Gannett, Ezra S., his Sermon on the Atlantic Telegraph, reviewed, 532 — quoted, 543.
Gardening, Ornamental, article on, 157 — principle of association in, 160.
Gautier, Theophile, his Le Roman de la Momie, noticed, 551.
Gillies's History of Greece, the first attempt to separate myth from fact, 482.
Goadby, Henry, his Text-Book of Vegetable and Animal Physiology, noticed, 566.
Goldsmith's History of Greece, its marks of extreme simplicity and credulity, 482.
Gosse, Philip Henry, his Aquarium, reviewed, 143.
Gray, Asa, his botanical works, reviewed, 321 — Introduction to his How Plants Grow, quoted, 323 — excellence of that work, 324 — merits of his botanical text books, 326.
Greek language, its genius, 490 — shaping causes of its dialects, 491 — its pristine development in Phrygia, 493.
Greeks, early commercial and colonizing activity of the, 506.
Grote's History of Greece, merits and defects of, 484.
Grün, Alphonse, his La Vie Publique de Montaigne, reviewed, 356.
Guizot, as represented by Lord Normanby, 187 — his position in the French revolution of 1848, 195 — his indifference to truth, 199 — his Mémoires, reviewed, 440 — his sketch of the condition of France after the battle of Waterloo, ib. — his first official appointment, 441 — his view of the social causes of disunion in France, 442 — his admission of the extreme liability of the French people to be imposed upon, 445.

Hackett, Horatio B., his Commentary on the Acts of the Apostles, reviewed, 243 — its merits, 244 — its religious character, 245 — his opinion on the gift of tongues, 246.
Hall, Benjamin H., his History of Eastern Vermont, noticed, 280.
Hanaford and Payson's Book-keeping, noticed, 569.
Haven, Alice B., her Coopers, noticed, 567.
Hazlitt, William Carew, his History of Venice, noticed, 557.
Hellas, article on the early days of, 481.
Hibberd, Shirley, his Book of the Aquarium, reviewed, 143.
Hill, Thomas, his Phi Beta Kappa Oration, noticed, 571.
Homans, J. Smith, his Cyclopedia of Commerce, noticed, 562.
Humboldt, Baron Von, his opinion of Blodget's Climatology, 507, note.
Humphrey, Heman, his Life of Gallaudet, reviewed, 518.
Hungary, article on the Protestant Church in, 343 — its successive steps toward self-government, 345 — its free constitution, 348 — its liberties assailed by Austria,

349 — crushed by the concordat between the Pope and the Emperor, 351.
Hyperides, his Oration over Leosthenes, noticed, 275.

Jameson, Mrs., her Memoirs of the Early Italian Painters, noticed, 553.
Jesse, John Heneage, his Memoirs of the Pretenders and their Adherents, noticed, 554.
Josephine, Memoirs of the Empress, reviewed, 112 — her character, 113 — malign influence of her conjugal infidelity on Napoleon's character, 114.

Kendrick, A. C., his edition of Olshausen's Commentary, reviewed, 248 — his own independent contributions to the work, 250.
Kern, G. M., his Practical Landscape Gardening, reviewed, 157.
King, Dan, his Quackery Unmasked, noticed, 269.

Liverpool and Manchester railway, projected, 45 — again contemplated, 49 — obstacles in the way of its construction, 50 — opposed in Parliament, 51 — difficulties overcome in the progress of the work, 52 — finished and opened, 55.
Lowell, James R., his Poems, noticed, 251.

Mallet, Mr. Sergeant, his Day after Tomorrow, noticed, 271.
Massachusetts Historical Society, new volume of its Collections, reviewed, 449 — sketch of its history, 450 — contents of its last issue, 451.
Mathieu, Henri, his La Turquie et ses Différents Peuples, noticed, 546.
Meyer's Commentary on the New Testament, reviewed, 250.
Michel, Francisque, his Le Pays Basque, reviewed, 211.
Michelet's Richelieu et la Fronde, reviewed, 447 — his chief disqualifications as an historian, ib. — his misappreciation of Richelieu, 448.
Miot, Comte, his Mémoires, reviewed, 423 — his view of Napoleon Bonaparte's court, 424 — his intimacy with Joseph Bonaparte, 425 — his disclosures concerning the death of the Duc d'Enghien, 429.
Missouri Valley, article upon the, 66 — its lack of water, ib. — its soil, 71.
Mitford's History of Greece, its conservatism, 482.
Montaigne, Michael de, article on, 356 — external facts of his life, 359 — his idiosyncrasies, 361 — features of his age, 363 — his local surroundings, 365 — his friendship with Mademoiselle de Gournay, 368 — with Etienne de la Boëtie, 370 — his Journey into Italy, 371 — his deficient sense of beauty, 374 — his affluency in classical citations, 376 — diversity of themes in his Essays, 377 — his affinity to the English mind, 379 — his moral defects and merits, 383 — his integrity, 387.
Morris, George P., his Poems, noticed, 277.
Myths, history to be constructed from, 486.

Napoleon I., influence of the Empress Josephine upon, 112 — his relations with Chateaubriand, 117.
Nebraska and Kanzas, future mercantile position of, 75.
Nelligan, William H., his Rome, noticed, 283.
Normanby, Marquis of, his Year of Revolution, reviewed, 184 — worth of his book, 187 — its scope, 189 et seq.
Northwestern districts of the United States, climate of, 214.
Nutting, I. H., his Grammar, noticed, 569.

Olshausen, Hermann, his Biblical Commentary on the New Testament, reviewed, 248 — its merits, 249.
Ozanam, A. F., his Civilization in the Fifth Century, reviewed, 170 — his personal and literary character, 171 — his aim in this work, 173.

Parsons, Theophilus, his Laws of Business, noticed, 561.
Pascal, Cousin's work concerning him, reviewed, 107 — his style, 108 — his Discourse on Love, 109.
Paulinus, Life and Works of, 181.
Peck, George, his Wyoming, noticed, 280.
Peirce, Benjamin, his Analytic Mechanics, reviewed, 1 — his method of demonstration, ib. — his Preface, quoted, 18 — his plan for succeeding volumes, 19.
Pelasgians, primitive monotheism of the, 497 — their subsequent idol-worship, 498.
Periwinkle, Gosse's description of the, 148.
Phillips Exeter Academy, foundation of, 126 — funds and property of, 129 — constitution of, 130 — history of, 132 — beneficiary provisions of, 140 — internal economy of, 141.
Phillips, John, sketch of his life, 127 — his benefactions to the Academies at Andover and Exeter, 129.
Phillips, Samuel, Memoir of, reviewed, 119 — his ancestry, 120 — his education, 121 — his and his family's benefactions to the Academy and the Theological Seminary at Andover, 122, 125 — his public services, 123.
Phœnicians, the, their relations with the early Greeks, 496.
Phyllotaxy, laws of, 337.
Plants, geographical distribution of, 329.
Platte River, description of its bottom-lands, 82.
Prairie land, its soil, 87 — age of its vegetation, 89 — its climate, 92.
Prudentius, Life and Works of, 181.
Pulpit, New York, in the Revival of 1858, noticed, 261.

Quincy, Josiah, his Life of John Quincy Adams, noticed, 570.

Randall, Henry S., his Life of Jefferson, noticed, 562.
Reasoning, in what it consists, 2 — syllogistic, 3 — demonstrative, 14.
Robertson, Frederick W., second series of his Sermons, noticed, 256.
Russell, C. W., his Life of Cardinal Mezzofanti, noticed, 559.

Scott, Sir Walter, his Works, reviewed, 293 — his early life, 294 — his first publication, 295 — his Lay of the Last Minstrel published, 296 — Introduction to it, quoted, 297 — his partnership with Ballantyne, 299 — his career as a novelist, 301 — his quantity of production, 302 — its quality, 304 — grounds of his permanent fame, 305 — truthfulness of his fictions, 308 — his life at Abbotsford, 310 — his relations to other authors, 312 — his bankruptcy, 313 — his subsequent labors, 315 — his last illness, 316 — his death, 317 — his essential greatness, 318 — his high moral tone, 319.
Sicard, Abbé, his labors for the instruction of the deaf mute, 527.
Silloway, Thomas W., his Text-Book of Modern Carpentry, noticed, 566.
Smiles, Samuel, his Life of George Stephenson, reviewed, 21.
Smith, Charles J., his Landscape Gardening, reviewed, 157.
Starfish, the, its depredations on the oyster-beds in New York harbor, 153.
Steam carriages, when and by whom invented, 37 — successive experiments in, 38 et seq.
Stephenson, George, his Life, reviewed, 21 — his parentage and birth, ib. — his childhood, 22 — his first employment in the colliery, 23 — his earliest lessons in reading, 24 — his first engine, 28 — his safety-lamp, 29 — controversy with Sir Humphrey Davy concerning it, 30 — his first locomotive, 41 — his services as engineer in building the Stockton and Darlington railway, 46 — in building the Liverpool and Manchester railway, 51 — his crowded engagements, 59 — his personal habits, 63.
Stockton and Darlington railway, how constructed, 46 — its opening, 48 — its beneficial results, 49.
Sullivant, W. S., his labors on the mosses and liverworts for Gray's Manual of Botany, 331.
Sumner, William H., his History of East Boston, noticed, 565.

Taylor, John L., his Memoir of Samuel Phillips, reviewed, 119.
Telegraph, Oceanic, article on the, 532 — its general utility, 538 — its effect on commerce, 539 — its agency in detecting crime, 540 — its worth as a means of universal pacification, 541.
Thirlwall's History of Greece, its critical value, 482.
Tiffany, Osmond, his Brandon, noticed, 568.
Timbs, John, his School Days of Eminent Men, noticed, 555.
Tram-roads, invention of, 36.
Trojan War, Curtius's view of the legends concerning, 504.

Vericour, R. de, his Life and Times of Dante, noticed, 257.
Villemain's Life of Chateaubriand, reviewed, 114.

Waverley Novels, reviewed, 293 — publication of, commenced, 299 — success of, 300 — permanent grounds for the fame of, 305.
Westcott, Thompson, his Life of John Fitch, noticed, 282.
Whewell, William, his History of the Inductive Sciences, noticed, 285.
White, Richard Grant, his edition of Shakespeare, noticed, 260, 564.
Wiseman, Cardinal, his Recollections of the last four Popes, noticed, 254.
Woodbridge, William, first Principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, 132.
Wordsworth's Sonnet on Scott's departure for the Continent, 317.
Worthen, W. E., his Cyclopædia of Drawing, noticed, 284.